PMC awards students

Palabora Mining Company held their 4th Annual Certificate Ceremony in which 304 people were awarded certificates in various learnerships.

The prestigious ceremony was held at the Mopani TVET College hall on Wednesday, April 12.

The 304 people who were awarded certificates comprised of Palabora Mining Company employees and individuals from the community.

The courses offered by PMC are a total of 23, ranging from management to adult education and training.

Speaking on behalf of all graduates, metals production graduate, Themba Khoza shared a few heart-warming and humorous incidents which occurred on the journey taken to attaining his certificate in metal production.

"We have all had our fair share of challenges but even through all that, our determination was our driving force for success.

We were well taken care of by a phenomenal team, helpful in every possible way.

As for this prestigious company, to have given us a chance to work with you guys is priceless, giving us all this knowledge and skills.

I am very grateful."

In his keynote address, Keith Mathole, general manager marketing, sales, logistics and external affairs of PMC, told graduates that they should take time and internalise this moment and determine what this means for them.

"There is very little or nothing at all that compares to you completing something you have started, you must feel a sense of pride or maybe relief."

He further told the graduates that the qualification alone would not yield them success.

"Qualifications alone will not help you to succeed, you will need the attributes of graduates which are: commitment, dedication, desire, hard work, integrity, respect, collaboration and responsibility at work among other responsibilities.

The certificate alone will not do work for you." He re-iterated.

JAM PACKED: The Mopani TVET college hall was filled to maximum capacity with the Palabora Mining Company graduates.
